Biography/ Candidate's Statement

I would be pleased to serve on the State Bar of Nevada's Board of Governors. Southern Nevada has some of the best attorneys (as people and lawyers) in the United States, and I will work hard to serve the members of the Bar.

Since moving to southern Nevada twenty-five years ago, I have sought to serve this community in various capacities. From 2010-2019, I was on the Board of the Clark County Bar Association (CCBA), serving as its President in 2018. I have served the community in other ways as well – as a youth sports coach (my best estimate is 60+ teams in basketball, soccer, flag football, and baseball), on a charitable board that focuses on benefitting southern Nevada's children, and in various capacities as a leader in my local church congregation.

In 2004, I founded what is now Aldrich Law Firm, Ltd. Over the past 20 years, we have worked hard to build a solid reputation as hard-working, honest attorneys who work for the benefit of their clients while maintaining excellent relationships with opposing counsel, courts, court staff, and everyone we work with.

I graduated from Brigham Young University in 1995 with a B.A. in Economics. In 1999, I graduated from the University of Idaho College of Law and moved to Las Vegas. My wife, Amie, and I have five great sons, two fantastic daughters-in-law, and two perfect grandchildren.

It would be a privilege to serve on the Board of Governors.
