This issue was curated by SCOTT G. WASSERMAN, ESQ. He is the founder of Government Consulting Services L.L.C., consulting in issues of higher education, and state and federal legislation. Wasserman previously served as the chief executive officer and special counsel to the Board of Regents of the Nevada System of Higher Education, as a deputy attorney general in the Civil Division of the Office of the Attorney General and served the Nevada State Legislature as Chief Deputy Legislative Counsel.

This issue of Nevada Lawyer magazine highlights the many and varied benefits that are available to you as a member of the State Bar of Nevada. As an additional benefit of bar membership, we hope that Nevada Lawyer brings, on a monthly basis, a sense of community to the members of the state bar, particularly during this ongoing pandemic that has kept many of us apart.

Nevada Lawyer provides Nevada attorneys the opportunity to publish articles on topics in areas of their expertise. While some articles may address your particular area of practice, others provide a window into our colleagues' areas of law that we may not typically practice. The magazine also provides a forum for Nevada law firms to highlight the achievements and activities of members of their firms, as well as pro bono news and activities, and employment opportunities. Our intent is for the magazine to contribute to the bar by providing varying perspectives, valuable legal and ethical educational resources, and CLE opportunities, and by highlighting useful practice information and local news generally relevant to our profession. The magazine also provides our legal community a place to celebrate the lives of members who are no longer with us.

Nevada Lawyer is always looking for new ways to improve the magazine and its usefulness to bar membership. If you have any suggestions for changes or improvements to the magazine, please do not hesitate to contact the editorial board staff by calling the Reno or Las Vegas offices of the state bar with your suggestions.
